an Internet

experience

so real you can touch it.

Now the resources of the Internet are truly at your fingertips. Immersion Corporation is working closely with We Media to make the Internet more accessible for everyone, including the visually impaired. By incorporating Immersion TouchSense™ technology, Web sites such as wemedia.com can deliver tactile sensations through TouchSense-enabled computer mice and other devices. People with disabilities can take full advantage of the Internet, accessing online information and entertainment using the sense of touch. Enriched with realistic textures and contours, the Internet becomes a better experience for everyone. Find out more today at www.immersion.com/wemedia.

Immersion Corporation has teamed up with We Media to build TouchSense technology into www.wemedia.com, the one-stop online community service and e-commerce resource for people with disabilities. Together, we're breaking down the barriers to universal Internet access.
